

The Tropical Conservation and Development Student Group invites you to join us for the Fall 2011 Conservation and Development Forum

From Top-Down to Bottom-Up

The Key Challenges Facing Community-based Natural Resource Management (CBNRM) in Southern Africa

Presentations by the southern African CBNRM scholars with an open-panel discussion to follow.

When: Friday, November 18

From 2:00 to 3:30pm

Where: Niewens-Ziegler Hall 376

The southern African CBNRM Scholars are hosted by the Centre for African Studies at UF as part of a USAID funded programme. The purpose of the programme is to develop higher education (university level) capacity in community-based natural resource management in southern Africa:

- * Grace Kanguishi of the Polytechnic of Namibia
- * Sandra Slater-Jones of the Southern African Wildlife College
- * Vicky Crookes of the University of KwaZulu-Natal in South Africa
- * Daliso Njovu of the Zambia Forestry College
- * Kutlwano Mulale of the University of Botswana
- * Collen Matema of the University of Zimbabwe
- * Nicholus Funda of the Tswane University of Technology in South Africa
- * Duncan Hay of the University of KwaZulu-Natal